1.What is Programming language?

Ans: A programming language is way of doing communication with computer.

Using this language, we can share our thought to the computer and and it enable a programmer to make a software that help to do some complex task.

2.Why do we need a programming language?

Ans: For performing a complex task by the human being, it was too difficult and time taking and some task is there that is not possible to do for human. So, to overcome these problems a programming language comes in market. Using this we can communicate with computer system.

3. what are the features of Java?

Ans:1.it is platform independent.

2.easy to learn

3.Interpreted

4.secure

5. portable

6.etc

4. What is an object?

Ans: An object can be anything that have its some properties and able to perform any function, it   can be a human, a car, etc. Properties written as a variable and function written as a method.

5. what is a class?

Ans: A class is a group of object and also called blueprint.

6. Explain about the main () method in Java?

Ans: Main function in java is An predefined function for JVM working as a entry gate for a compiler and it contain parameter (String args []).

When compiler going to compile the code then that search main () method for compiling. And   also, it can receive data given by user in args [].